

URBANITE COMMUNITY FORUM PANELISTS FOR THE NICETIES

Pam Hirons Counselor, MA, LMHC

My own life has been one of great transformation; therefore I am keenly aware of the power of the individual to grow and change. I highly value the uniqueness of each individual and will design an approach that is created just for you!

Jennifer Lieberman, Marriage & Family Therapist, MA, LMFT

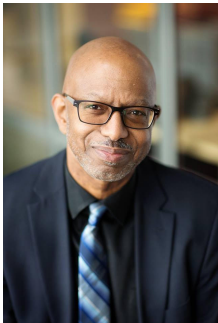

I enjoy engaging with people about their lives, hearing what matters to them, what's meaningful, and encouraging them to live lives in alignment with those preferences. I find it important to keep the work connected to what clients value; that fuels the resilience to tolerate change, hard conversations, and uncomfortable feelings. Working with feelings of self-acceptance, capacity to tolerate others, and to face unhelpful, old patterns with love in order to encourage choice and the possibility of change.

www.jenliebermanmft.com

Asha M. Griffith, Counselor, MA, LMHC

I am a board certified Licensed Mental Health Counselor in the state of Florida and New York. I have a master's level education in mental health counseling from NYACK College in New York. My education and professional background is in working with children, adults and couples of various mental capacities. This background gives me a unique and effective approach to counseling.

Dr. Bill Woodson

Dr. Woodson is New College of Florida's Chief Diversity Officer and Dean of Outreach and Engagement. He also teaches leadership and career strategy, and recently developed a course that explores how the origins of policing as a mechanism for social control of enslaved people continues to shape the role of the criminal justice system today, particularly in communities of color.